HartTools 7.5 Source Code License

Because the HartTools 7.5 are now stable since May 2018, we have asked ourselves the question of how to proceed with it. Essential new functions were not requested by the users.

A further development could be to port the software package to Linux, another one could be to try it with android. However, when it comes to Android, it should be clear to the engineers among you that solving the problem of a connection to a serial port is not going to be that easy, as not only does the system have to support it but also the hardware.

Therefore, we decided to postpone the development of a new version 2020 for the time being and to offer the source code of the HartTools 7.5 for sale.

This should make it possible for anyone, who wants to make it, to port to Linux or integrate the HART communication in an Android system.

What we offer you today is the unrestricted but non-exclusive license to use the source code of HartTools 7.5. The only thing that is not allowed with this license is the transfer of the source code to third parties.

The offer can be found on our website. Please let us know in case you have any questions.
